PUBLISHED EVRY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY IN THE YEAR

VOLUME XXXI

PARIS, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1913

Local Sales Greatly Improved.

The tobacco sale at the warehouse of the Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse Co., held Saturday, showed considerable improvement over the sales of the past two weeks in quantity and quality of tobacco as well as the prices obtained. There were a total of 118,730 pounds sold Saturday at a general average of 12 cents a pound. The sales throughout the day were brisk and bidding was spirited. Better grades of tobacco were much sought by the buyers. Following are a few of the averages:

F. A. Wallis sold his crop for an average of $13.88. Taylor & Waggoner received an average of $12.60 for their crop.

Curry & Dotson sold their crop for an average of $14.57.

L. C. Ashcraft sold a crop for an average of $13.13.

Peed, Allen and Biddle disposed of a crop for an average of $16.10.

Peed, Allen and Dunham sold a crop for an average of $16.03.

The highest average of the day was made on a crop belonging to George W. Clay, which sold for $16.32 per one hundred pounds.

The local warehouse will continue its sales until the supply of tobacco yet in the county is exhausted, in spite of the reports that have been circulated to the contrary.

Bourbon Farms Sold.

By the terms of a deal closed Friday Mr. Green Leer, of Millersburg, purchased of Hon. Sidney G. Clay, the Bowles place containing 293 acres, and lying near Millersburg, this county, at $135 per acre.

The farm is situated on the Jackson and Tarr Station pike and is moderately improved. It is in a high state of cultivation and is considered one of the best farms in the county. Involved in the transaction is about $40,000. Mr. Leer, who is one of the most prominent tobacco men of Bourbon county, will move with his family from Millersburg to his new purchase as soon as he can get possession.

The deal was put through by the real estate firm of Harris & Speakes, of this city, who have made a number of farm deals in the past few weeks.

Mr. F. G. Sprake, of Harrison county, sold last week to Messrs. E. J. and B. D. Johnson, also of Harrison county, the Green farm containing 114 acres of land lying on the Colville pike in this county. Price, $7,500 cash. Possession given at once.

Mr. Fletcher Donaldson sold last week to Mr. J. C. Blount of Nicholas county, 128 acres of land located on Hinkston creek, near Little Rock, at a private price. Immediate possession will be given.

Mr. R. B. Hutchcraft, of this city, sold last week to Mr. M. G. French, of Harrison county, the former's Ewalt's Cross Roads farm, located on the Cynthiana pike, and containing 55 acres. The price paid was $115 per acre. Possession will be given at once, and the purchaser will move to the property to reside.

Distillery Burned With Heavy Loss.

The plant and machinery of the Paris Distilling Co., owned and operated by the Julius Kessler Co., of Chicago, was destroyed by fire at an early hour Sunday morning entailing a loss that will in all probability reach $100,000, and endangered other property of the company.

The fire was discovered about two o'clock Sunday morning by Mr. James McNamara, night watchman at the plant, but it had gained such headway that it was impossible to control it with the fire fighting apparatus maintained at the plant and an alarm was sent in for the Paris fire department.

The plant and warehouses are located on the North Middletown pike and on the Maysville branch of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, just out of the city limits. For the local department to respond to the call the permission of Mayor Hinton had to be secured and he ordered the engine and several lines of hose taken to the scene to protect the property adjoining.

When the fire department arrived on the scene the building was enveloped in flames and brisk wind was fanning them fiercely. For a time the warehouses and cattle barns adjoining were imperiled, as the wind blowing from the West carried the sparks and flames in their direction.

A sudden decline in the temperature made the work of fighting the fire difficult and those who were handling the lines of hose suffered intensely from the cold. Good work, however, resulted from their efforts as the fire was confined to the building in which it originated and no damage was suffered to any of the adjoining buildings.

While the origin of the fire is unknown it is the opinion that it started from a spontaneous combustion in the dust room or from some kind of an explosion in the boiler room. When the flames were discovered they were blazing fiercely in that part of the building.

A sudden change in the course of the wind probably saved the cattle barns in which were housed 875 head of cattle, each chained to the trough racks. They were the property of Jonas Weil, of Fayette county, and were being fed at the distillery. Had the wind continued in that direction all of the stock would have perished, as the barns are frame structures and the flames could have been easily communicated to them.

In the grain rooms were about 9,000 bushels of grain, which together with a car of shelled corn on the siding, which was waiting to be unloaded, were destroyed. The warehouses containing about 30,000 barrels of whisky were not damaged and none of the whisky was destroyed, although workmen were prepared to remove as much whisky from the buildings as possible in event the fire was communicated to them.

The distillery which had a capacity of about 60 barrels per day had been in operation since January 1, and since that time had been running at full capacity. Since the operations began about 5,000 barrels of whisky had been run. As a consequence of the fire the entire force of men employed at the plant, to the number of seventy-five, were thrown out of employment. The loss on the property is fully covered by insurance. The only part of the building which was not destroyed was the beer room in which were more than 100,000 gallons of beer. This portion was saved from destruction by a brick wall falling upon the part adjoining the building, proper, demolishing a large section and smothering out the flames which had begun to eat their way into the frame structure.

The cattle which were being fed at the distillery were shipped away as rapidly as possible Sunday, as there was not sufficient slop to supply them over one day. More than ninety cars were employed in moving the cattle.

The fire furnished a very spectacular scene which was witnessed by a large number of residents of this city who would not venture out in the cold. The burning copper served to produce flames on many hues and when the giant smoke stack, loosed from its moorings by the flames, fell to the ground, caused myriads of sparks to mount high into the air.

Since the construction of the distillery at the close of the Civil War it has been operated by many firms. The original owners were George M. Bedford and W. T. Buckner, who operated the plant until 1880 when it was bought by Samuel Clay, Jr., & Co., and later sold to the Welsh Distilling Co., of Covington. Later it was absorbed by the Kentucky Distillers & Warehouse Co., which is known as the whisky trust. At the plant was made the famous Sam Clay whisky which name was derived from the product of one of its former owners.

Nothing definite is known as to what plans for the future are being considered but it is probable the distilling plant will be reconstructed and completed by the coming fall when it will be placed in operation. This distillery is the only one which has operated in Bourbon county for a number of years, as all of those controlled by the trust have been dismantled, and the machinery and equipment taken away.

Yesterday afternoon the beer room, which escaped the flames Sunday morning caught fire, and was consumed. Every precaution had been taken and it was thought there was little danger of the smouldering ruins breaking into flames. The fire started about noon and little could be done to check its spread until the remainder of the building had burned to the ground.

Elks to Meet Tonight.

There will be a meeting of Paris Lodge No. 373 B. P. O. E., at Elks Hall tonight for the annual election of officers. A full attendance is requested.

Revival of Racing.

Horse racing in this country was all but killed a few years ago by those who called themselves its friends, but who in reality were its worst enemies. There is now a chance of it being resuscitated, as the result of a judicial decision in New York State, holding that oral betting is not illegal.

If the New York race tracks reopen, the sport will enjoy a revival throughout the country. The prospect gives great satisfaction to horse owners and horse lovers generally. Racing in itself is so harmless and yet so pleasurable that it deserves support and encouragement rather than condemnation. The breeding of fine horses also deserves encouragement, and one way of giving this encouragement is the holding of properly conducted racing meets.

In reviving "the sport of kings," however, there should be no revival of its old attendant evils, especially the gambling evil. It was the scandalous manner in which sport was formerly conducted that led to the enactment of laws which resulted in the closing of so many race track gates. Those who were responsible for such legislation had nothing against the horse or the horse lover; it was the professional gambler they were after, the bookmaker, who had become a stench in the nostrils of decent citizens. He should stay out. Any revival of racing which contemplates giving him permission to resume his old time activities would be a public misfortune.

What State Papers

Are Saying About the Senatorial Race

The Carlisle Advocate, edited by James H. Tilton advises that Governor McCreary keep off the track in the Senatorial contest, in which it is said he will oppose former Governor Beckham. The Advocate in a recent issue has the following about the Senatorial contest:

"Time will bring forth the announcement of Gov. J. B. McCreary for United States Senator, it is the opinion of politicians who have been watching the maneuvers of his closest political friends, and it is the opinion of many Democrats of this county that the step will prove a serious one to this good old Democrat, who has been honored often by the highest positions within the gift of the Democrats of this State. To our way of thinking it would be much better to round out his active political life by retiring after his present term of office expires, rather than possibly meet defeat and be dead politically."

That Governor Beckham stands highly with the Democrats of Woodford county is seen in the following dispatch from Versailles to the Louisville Post published recently:

"Former Governor J. C. W. Beckham spent yesterday in Woodford county in the interest of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, to be voted upon in the August primary election. He received the personal pledges of hundreds of Democrats during the day, many of whom were opposed to him or for another candidate, when he was last before the Democracy of this state. All day long on the streets of Versailles he was surrounded by Woodford county citizens. He did not make a speech, contenting himself with shaking hands and talking with his friends relative to his candidacy.

"There has been quite a change of sentiment toward the former Governor by those in this county who have opposed him in the past. He has always been strong here, but his strength has grown in the years he has been out of public life and office, and it may be safely stated that he would now get a large majority in Woodford county over any Democrat in Kentucky who might aspire to an office against him.

"While here Gov. Beckham informed his friends that he proposes to make an active canvass before the people of Kentucky for the Senatorial honor of which he was robbed by the perfidy of the so-called Democrats a few years back when W. O. Bradley was sent to the United States Senate.

"Within a month the former Governor proposes to get in the campaign right and keep at it daily until the day of the August primary."

Following an effort to get a line on the voters of Garrard county an adherent of Governor McCreary who had been sent there for that purpose, was compelled to return to the capital with anything but assuring news. The voters of Garrard put a stamp of disapproval on the proposed candidacy of McCreary which is indicated by the following dispatch from Lancaster:

"Col. George T. Farris, ex-State Senator from this district, and now private policeman of the Capitol at Frankfort, under appointment of Gov. McCreary, was here court day, and took occasion to sound out a number of the leading Democrats of Garrard county in regard to the sentiment which exists here toward Gov. McCreary making the race for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

"A large majority of the responses he met with were in no way favorable to the Governor making this race. Many Democrats who have been McCreary men in all his previous campaigns told him that not only were they opposed to his making the race, but that they intended to vote for Beckham for Senator, and that 95 percent of the Democrats of Garrard felt the same way about the matter.

"Men like John M. Farris, present member of the Legislature from Garrard and candidate for re-election; J. R. Mount, also a candidate for Representative; Capt. T. B. Robinson, ex-Sheriff of the county, A. J. Leavell, one of the best known Democrats in the county, and James I. Hamilton, county chairman and other leaders declared that this county is overwhelmingly for Beckham, and will so declare itself in the August primary, no matter who runs.

"Col. Farris is said to have obtained very little encouragement for the Governor's prospective candidacy in this county."

Salves Can't Cure Eczema

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this. Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.

WASH THE GERMS OUT.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES
Prof. J. J. Hooper, of the experiment station at Lexington, in his address at the State Farmers' institute said the total production of eggs in Kentucky was more than 12,000,000. He said poultry was worth nearly as much as all the sheep in the State, and about one half as much as the total number of hogs.

Meddling Stage Directors.
In a recent lawsuit regarding the ownership of a play a stage director testified that in thirty-two years' theatrical experience he had never heard of a play being produced as originally written. "The chief duty of a stage director," he said, "is meddling with manuscripts. I have even heard of stage directors who tried to improve on Shakespeare by revamping his works."

Always Aggravating.

QUICKER CURE OF WOUNDS

Physician's Experiments Give Inspiring Prospects for Further Great Victories Over Pain.

Dr. Carrel's experiments in stimulating the multiplication of cells and the growth of tissue presents inspiring prospects of fresh victories over pain.

The theory of the tests which may lead to the cure of a broken leg in four or five days is based upon the possibility of accelerating the processes whereby nature repairs injuries to its organisms by the replacing of diseased or broken tissues with strong and healthy ones. In other words, it indicates the possibility of the growth of tissues at a much faster rate than is the case in the ordinary course of events. Wonders have been accomplished in this direction in experiments with plant life, and even with animal life in its lower forms. The achievements of a hothouse or of an incubator are merely incidents in the same progress toward aiding the impulses of nature. Bees are aided in their gathering of honey by the cunning of the apriarist, who furnishes the tiny workers with glucose at the doors to their hives, and thus saves them the long labor of flying from flower to flower. The soil is enriched and its productive functions are stimulated by an artificial supply of phosphates and other elements needed for the renovation of its spent energies. Life-giving properties in the air itself are enhanced and focused to a given point by the use of oxygen when life is at the vanishing point. It is not hard to believe that Dr. Carrel is right in his forecast of the time when the processes of the replacement of injured cells in the human body will be so stimulated by scientific treatment that the reign of pain on earth will be greatly curtailed.

One Virtue.
Poverty is no disgrace, but that's about all that can be said in its favor.—Detroit Free Press.

The World is Growing Brighter.

As an evidence that the world is growing brighter each day just see how busy the Paris Gas & Electric Co. is kept wiring houses. There's a reason. Electricity makes the cheapest, best and cleanest light and you can now have the house wired at cost. This is the best time of the year to make improvements on your property and can you think of a better investment than installing electric service in your home. If your neighbor's home is wired and yours is not, notice the difference.

FARM LOANS

This company accepts first mortgage loans on farms, when duly approved as security for money loaned. We are, therefore, always glad to hear from those who own real property, and who require funds for building or other purposes, or who are contemplating the purchase of new farms; and we are, as a rule, prepared to advance such funds, if the property is of recognised value and the desired loan relatively reasonable.

It is always requisite that there shall be a wide margin between the market value of the property and the amount of the loan for which the property is offered as security.

We aim to be as liberal as possible in all cases, however; and those who seek loans of this character will do well to consult with us. Write to the following address giving full particulars.

Nervous TroublesKill Ambition.*Tona Vita Brings it Back to Worn-out, Half Sick People.

One of the principal symptoms of nervous troubles is a feeling of disengagement.

A man or woman suffering with nerve exhaustion feels so worn out and miserable most of the time that he becomes hopeless and depressed.

Life doesn't seem to be worth living.

Tona Vita has been pronounced by physicians to be the most reliable and successful tonic and nerve food ever sold to the public. It is building up many thousands of rundown, nervous men and women and restoring them to health and happiness.

If you are a sufferer from nervous breakdown, try this great tonic, and as you feel your health, strength and nerve return you will be changed in mind as well as in body. Life will seem like a different thing to you in a few weeks' time.

Tona Vita is sold by Chas. E. Butler & Co.

Love as Form of Religion.

To live content with small means, to seek elegance rather than luxury, and refinement rather than fashion; to be worthy, not respectable, and wealthy, not rich; to study hard, think quickly, talk gently, act frankly; to listen to stars and birds, to babes and songs, with open heart; to bear all cheerfully, do all bravely, await occasions, hurry never—in a word, to let the spiritual, unbidden and unconscious grow up through the common—this is to be my symphony.—Channing.

Surprise Your Friends.

For four weeks regularly use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They stimulate the liver, improve digestion, remove bad impurities, pimples and eruptions disappear from your face and body and you feel better. Begin at once. Buy at Oberdorfer's.

Sand Cure for Fatigue.

One of the most efficacious cures for fatigue from overwork consists in walking barefoot in sand. The nerves of the sole and heel are slightly irritated by coming in contact with the grains and accelerate the circulation of the blood in all parts of the body. The effect produced is highly invigorating. Besides this, the monotony of an ample extent of yellow sand exerts a soporific effect on the brain which induces sleep.—Harper's Weekly.

GOT EVEN WITH HIM

BY ELLEN SMITH.

Lannigan had an aisle seat in the front row of the balcony and was enjoying the opera very much. The music did not bore him and, moreover, Daisy Hilton was with him, and he was enjoying Daisy's society even more than the opera. He reflected that he had simply wasted his time taking other girls to the opera, when he might have engaged Daisy for the entire season if he had had his wits about him. Lannigan, however, felt complacent and at peace with the world.

At the first intermission a hand tapped Lannigan's shoulder. "Let me see your checks, please," quietly said a voice accompanying the hand. Lannigan stiffened indignantly. Then, fishing in his pockets for his checks, he frostily passed them back over his shoulder.

"Wrong seats," murmured the voice. "Sorry, but you belong on the other side of the house."

"The Dickens I do!" Lannigan exploded. "These are season tickets, I'd have you know. I've sat here all winter."

"Sorry!" said the imperturbable voice, "but the people who own these seats are waiting for 'm, and you'll have to move."

Lannigan absolutely choked with rage. That this should happen on all nights on the night when Daisy was with him! He controlled himself with an effort and spoke out of the side of his mouth over his shoulder: "I shan't move!"

"Sorry!" said the inexorable voice. "I hope you won't make a scene. If you don't go I'll have to put you out."

Lannigan boomed over. "It'll take a bigger man than you are to do that!" he said very audibly. "You confound ed—"

"Oh, I'm big enough," drawled the voice, insultingly.

Lannigan, whirling around with blood in his eyes, confronted the grinning face of Phillips, one of his best friends.

Daisy giggled audibly. "I thought I'd die!" she gasped, mopping her eyes with a whisp of handkerchief. "Really, I never saw anything done more cleverly, Mr. Phillips. I didn't recognize you at first myself; this light is so dim. I never saw anything so funny in my life. Mr. Lannigan was so—so perfectly belligerent!"

"Phillips never will know how near he was to going over the railing," declared Lannigan, grimly, still weak from the shock.

It quite spoiled the opera for him. Besides upsetting his calmness of mind and his self-satisfaction, he had an additional worry. He did not at all like Daisy's open admiration of Phillips' brightness. Lannigan was at the nervous stage in his courtship where the blowing of straws pointed the way. Then he had an inspiration.

"Phillips is so frightfully careless," Lannigan told Daisy a week later, when again he was taking her to the opera. "He'll never once look at the dates. Oh, I wrote him the nicest sort of note. I told him that I thought I owed it to him and hoped he could use my opera seats tonight as I could not—and I sent him tickets for a month ago that I didn't use. I know him—he'll ask some girl and when the man at the door turns him down he'll have to buy seats—and I hope everything's gone but the dearest ones. That'll serve him right!"

"How awfully funny!" giggled Daisy Hilton. "Really, that's terribly bright, Mr. Lannigan. How clever it was of you to think of that."

Lannigan beamed. He felt comfortable again and fully reinstated in Daisy's admiring opinion.

Almost obstreperously he presented his tickets to the man at the door.

There was a colloquy. Then taking Daisy by the arm, Lannigan led her out of the crush and, with a muttered "Excuse me just a moment, please," he vanished.

"What's the matter?" Daisy asked bewilderedly, when he returned from the ticket office.

Lannigan looked confused. "Oh, nothing," he said, heavily. "Only—er—well, you see, I made a mistake and sent Phillips the tickets for tonight. I brought along the old ones myself." —Chicago Daily News.

Bath Somewhat Too Warm.

One November there was an earthquake in Montana, and, although it did not change the face of nature, it did other strange things. A number of rheumatic persons, some of whom were bedridden, were cured, and a deaf mute recovered hearing and speech. In several cases it increased the temperature of springs to a marked degree.

More than one cold spring was turned into a warm one, and one spring that gave forth water at a temperature of ninety degrees, surprised the proprietor unpleasantly.

He plunged in for a bath, and came out again in short order, half-boiled—and no wonder, since the thermometer showed that the temperature in the water had risen to one hundred and twenty degrees.

Bitter Pill.

You can see at a glance that they were never made to sell for the small price of $5.85—and in fact if we had purchased them in the usual way they would have been priced up to $10, for they are fully worth that in every respect. While quantity lasts, however, you can take your choice at $5.85.

The Most Pronounced Dramatic Success of the Season,

THE TRAIL
LONESOME PINE

By Eugene Walter, From the Book of the Same Name by John Fox, Jr., with New York Cast and a Massive Production.

Wednesday night you will witness "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." As John Fox, Jr., guided you through the pages of his great American story, Eugene Walter has made it possible in his dramatization for you to see the June you have dreamed of. The production will mark an epoch in dramatic history, for this play, more than any other of this foremost dramatist's works, reveals a rare and subtle power of imparting a quivering intensity to every line and situation.

Prices—Lower Floor $1.50; Balcony, 75c-$1; Gallery, 25-50c.

Mail orders filled if accompanied by check and stamped envelope for return of tickets. Seats on sale Friday at Mitchell & Blakemore's.

THEATRICAL.

"THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE."

When John Fox, Jr., the author of the "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," resolved to put a woman of the Virginian mountains into a novel, he followed his old plan of hewing a trail into the remotest spot of the Appalachian Mountain chain, where no dust of the outside world had penetrated; a place where he could find the ideal representation of the natural and the human. He went and returned and gave the world the delightful story, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

Eugene Walter read the book, following the trail as Mr. Fox had blazed it, wrote his play in a mountain cove and his visualization of the primitive mountain girl, June, has delighted thousands.

Mr. Walter admits that his sojourn in a Virginia mountain cove was among his most interesting experiences. A few days after his arrival at Lonesome Cove he invited a mountaineer to give his opinion as to whether the tract of land had ever been at the bottom of the sea, as the sides bear the marks of erosion. The mountaineer replied, "Ef it 'twar so, 'twar before his pappy" or his grandpappy's time."

These coves were the first points settled because they afforded shelter both from the weather, which is often severe, and from the pursuing attention of former neighbors in the valley whose ideas of equity were unduly warped by a too thorough appreciation of merely legal technicalities. The descendants of these first settlers now occupy the ground first cleared by them, and the courteous mountaineer first mentioned who so delicately veiled his probable conjecture that his geological questioner was a "plum ejit," might have made his point still stronger by presenting the same evidence from his grandpappy's grandpappy. But the interest of the average mountaineer in public or private history seldom carries him far enough to inquire beyond the generations with whom he has a speaking acquaintance.

Little is known about the first settlements. There are no tombstones. There are few, comparatively few, traditions. Those existing are apt to be considered exclusively with family traits and incidents illustrative of the courage and generosity of the "cavemen." The pride of birth, as well as the refuse of the Vere de Veres, is the mountaineer's also. A young man or maiden of matrimonial aspiration would find it a serious drawback to belong to "white livered" kin, especially if the coveted partner occupied the normal position in being "allied to good fightin' stock."

Any business to be transacted is preceded by a decorous silence. Nothing so offends the good taste of the mountaineer as vulgar haste. The social side of the mountaineer is very charming. He is perfectly at ease without being self-important, he makes few blunders and ignores those that other people make; indeed he is always considerate of other people's feelings. His conversation is characterized by a gentle humor, tinged with sarcasm, but whatever he says gains a charm from his peculiar drawl and intonation. Whole phrases may be eluded, but every syllable of every word used is dwelt on with solemn deliberation. He seldom argues and never contradicts, for to contradict is equivalent to "givin' a man the lie," an intolerable affront which can only be wiped out by a rifle ball.

SOTHERN AND MARLOWE AT LEXINGTON.

E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe, the two most important dramatic stars of the English speaking world, are to appear at the Lexington Opera House for three nights beginning Monday, March 24. This will be the most important dramatic company that has visited Lexington in many years. Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe will present three plays from their Shakespearean repertoire. On Monday night, March 24, they will appear in "Romeo and Juliet;" on Tuesday night, the 25, "As You Like It;" on Wednesday night, 26, "Hamlet." There will be no Wednesday matinee. Many theatregoers of this city will doubtless desire to take advantage of this very unusual opportunity of witnessing three of the most popular plays of Shakespeare presented as they will be by two such famous stars. It will be a matter of interest to theatregoers that the prices to be charged for this engagement will be the same as is usually asked by attractions of the first class. It is usual for Sothern and Marlowe to ask $2.50 to $3.00 for orchestra seats in theatres of small capacity, but the Lexington Opera House has such a large seating capacity that they are able to play at the following scale of prices: "Orchestra floor, $2; balcony, $2.50 and $1; gallery, 50 cents." The orchestra box seats will be $2.50 each, and the balcony box seats $2 each. The management has arranged to fill all mail order accompanied by remittance in the sequence of their receipt. This great organization when traveling from city to city uses a special train of eleven cars; seven cars of scenery, three Pullman cars for the company, and Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe's private car. Each play is provided with a complete scenic equipment. Those desiring seats should order at once for this engagement, addressing their letters care of Charles Scott, Manager of the Lexington Opera House, Lexington, Kentucky.

Miss Anna Perian and Mr. Ed Bauers, the latter of Cynthiana, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Perian. They left after the ceremony for a few days' visit in Cincinnati. They will be at home in Cynthiana on their return.

The religious equilibrium of our little city was somewhat shaky last week when it became generally known that one S. J. Arnold, a Russellite, was to deliver a lecture at the opera house Thursday evening. But little is known of this form of religion here and there were a multitude of rumors afloat as to its character and teaching. Several discussed the advisability of attending and some went so far as to advise with their pastors. The day arrived and with it Mr. Arnold. The weather was disagreeable and no one was greeted with a small crowd, there being about thirty present. As the audience was small it was hard for him to get the amount of enthusiasm necessary to create proper interest. His scriptural texts were taken from the first three chapters of Genesis and the last three chapters of the New Testament. Mr. Arnold has been sent by the board of missions of his church to make the Central Kentucky towns at this time.

Mr. Hord Barnes and mother, while driving from town to their country home Friday evening had a narrow escape from serious injury when a two horse wagon collided with their vehicle. Both occupants were thrown from the buggy, sustaining some painful bruises. The vehicle was badly demolished. The occupants were taken into the home of Mr. John Maher, where Dr. C. B. Smith attended their injuries, which fortunately were of small extent.

Miss Hazel Duvall, of Paris, was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. J. H. Burroughs, from Saturday until Monday.

Class No. 7 of the Christian church gave a candy sale Saturday at the jewelry store of Mr. Aaron McConnell. A neat little sum was realized.

The Schuster Dramatic Stock Co., of Cincinnati, will appear at M. M. I. drill hall Saturday evening. Miss Jennie Marie Pepper, a Millersburg girl, who is in the Schuster School of Dramatic Art and Expression, is a member of this company and plays a strong part. In the past few months the company has put on their popular three act comedy drama "Incognito," in all the towns and cities around Cincinnati with great success. The play is full of life. The company is under heavy expense and they are worthy of a good patronage. Reserved seats 50 cents; are now on sale at the jewelry store of Aaron McConnell. General admission 35 cents. Buy early while there is a choice of seats.

Mrs. Sallie Best, aged 73, died yesterday at one o'clock at her home in Millersburg, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Best was formerly Miss Sallie Barbee, of Danville, and was the widow of the late Dr. I. D. Best. Mrs. Best was a highly cultured lady and a devout member of the Presbyterian church belonging to all the societies of her denomination. She is survived by five children, Rev. T. Reynolds Best, of Florida, Mr. Spencer Best, Los Angeles, Cal.; Prof. Harry Best, New York; Dr. I. D. Best, Cynthiana, Mr. A. S. Best, Millersburg, and Miss Nellie Louise Best, principal of music at Millersburg Female College. Dr. I. R. Best, her husband, died about thirteen years ago.

The funeral will be held at the Presbyterian church at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Services conducted by Rev. H. R. Laird, of Louisville, assisted by Rev. A. S. Venable.

Burglars Enter Saloon.

Burglars entered the saloon of James Connally on Main street sometime Sunday afternoon or night, and after making an attempt to break open the safe, which contained a large sum of money, left without accomplishing their purpose.

An entrance was gained to the building through one of the rear doors, the panel of which was broken out and the door unlocked from the inside. The safe which occupied a place beneath the cigar counter was moved and turned front up on the floor, evidently the work of two men. The cracksmen employed a chisel and monkey-wrench in cutting the hinges, breaking off the dial and handle.

The combination was broken and the chisel driven through the door. This instrument was left as it had been driven, the burglars evidently being unable to extricate it. The front of the safe was badly battered and gave evidence of being struck a number of times with a heavy hammer. Through all their effort the door would not yield.

The work was evidently that of experts, as the methods employed are said to be the same as those used by professionals in breaking old time safes. They left no clue that would lead to their apprehension. The safe contained about $400, which would have been a rich haul for the cracksmen had they been successful in getting it open. Nothing of value was missed from the saloon.

Whaley Sale.

One of the largest crowds ever in attendance on a like occasion assembled in Paris at the stock pens of Caywood & McClintock Friday, to attend the public sale of live stock offered by Mr. Wm. H. Whaley, Jr., of Bourbon.

Buyers of Fayette, Clark, Nicholas, Montgomery, Scott, Boyle and other nearby counties were present, and the bidding was spirited from the beginning. Auctioneers George D. Speakes, of Paris, Al. Loomis, of Winchester, and Charles Vanhook, of Cynthiana, were in charge of the sale, and they kept things humming from the beginning.

The sale was one of the largest stock sales held here in years and several hundred head of horses, ponies, mules, cattle, sheep, etc., changed hands at good prices. It was too early to estimate the total amount the sale yielded, but it runs up into the thousands of dollars.

The Barton Rogers farm, which Mr. Whaley recently purchased, was sold shortly after dinner, and after spirited bidding the place was knocked down to Mr. Charles C. Clarke, of near North Middle Town, who secured the place at $109 per acre. This place is located on the Cane Ridge pike, and is a desirable small farm. Mr. Ed. Burke, of Paris, was a competing bidder.

The following is a partial report of the prices received for the stock offered:

Shetland ponies, $50 to $107.50; pony trap and harness, $72; milk cows, $39 to $85; horses, $50 to $185; single mules, $125 to $197.50; one pair of mules, $270; one bunch yearling heifers, $25.50 each; one bunch yearling heifers, $29.25 each; yearling steers, $38 each; calves, $25 to $30 each; Shorthorn bulls, $47.50 to $52; black bulls, $62 to $67 each; 30 Southdown ewes, $7 each; 60 common sheep, $6.25 each; eighty-one sheep, $6.30 each; 35 ewes with 48 lambs by side, $7.60 each; heifers, $24 to $38 each; Jersey bulls, $25 to $32 each; Jersey bull, $41; broad sows, $27 to $31 each; sow and six pigs, $26.50; shoats, $9.25 to $10.25; three broad sows, $21.50 to $23; bows, $17 each. Farming implements brought good prices.

A. F. WHEELER & CO.

Does He Explain His Attitude?

Councilman Walker says we conveyed a wrong impression in stating in our last issue that he opposed a franchise for natural gas at the last meeting of the City Council. He says what he opposed was recognizing the franchise notice as an ordinance. He says we also erred in stating that that was the only thing of importance that transpired at the meeting, as he had opposed the paying of the city work hands every Saturday as it was contrary to law to so pay them.

We may have been wrong in thinking that Mr. Walker was opposed to the franchise, but we based our conclusion not only on the fact that he opposed the ordinance as published, on the grounds of a technical legal error, but also from the fact that when the ordinance was read and offered in the way in which he had suggested would be legal and when the year and day vote was called on the ordinance to advertise the sale of a natural gas franchise when Mr. Walker voted nay, all others, except perhaps one, voting yeas and carrying the ordinance.

The ordinance, however, was reconsidered and rejected unanimously because Col. Stewart, representing the natural gas people, stated he would not bid on the ordinance in the form in which it was offered as the company objected to some of the terms laid down for a guarantee that they would carry out their contract and actually furnish natural gas within a specific time. He stated however, he thought that if the matter were deferred to another meeting he thought satisfactory terms could be agreed-upon.

As to the other important point which Mr. Walker says was omitted we did not intend to slight the matter. Mr. Walker did oppose the weekly payment of the day laborers as he considered it illegal to do so and asked that they should wait for their money until it could be allowed at the regular Council meetings every two weeks, but as the explanation was made that there had been standing on the city records for a number of years a resolution that the day laborers be paid their wages each week we did not consider that this was a very important matter, as the Council voted not to change the custom.

THEATRICAL.

"THE THREE TWINS."

"The Three Twins," which comes to the Paris Grand on Monday, March 10, is positively one of the best musical comedies that has ever been produced. Its long run in Chicago of five months at the Whitney Opera House, and of eight months at the Herald Square Theatre, in New York, where the S. R. O. sign was displayed nightly, vouches for the worth of the attraction.

"The Three Twins" is a musical comedy with a plot and many novel features, the conglomerate nonsense, the riot of color, and the spirited movements make such an agreeable attack on one's senses that it matters not under what name the revelry goes. The music tantalizes and tantalizes, and the witty lines and adept clowning excites one to laughter.

The body of the baby was placed in the vault of the Paris cemetery yesterday and later will be taken to Newport for burial in Greenwood cemetery.

The funeral services were held yesterday by Elder W. E. Ellis.

TAYLOR.

Mrs. Nellie Stewart Taylor, aged 35 years, died at the home of her brother, Mr. Berry Stewart, in Carlisle, Saturday following a long illness of tuberculosis. Mrs. Taylor resided in Florida several years before returning to Carlisle, her old home. She was well known in Paris where she frequently visited her brother, Mr. Berry Stewart, who was connected with the L. & N. dispatcher's office before being transferred to the agency at Carlisle.

HORNSEY.

Mrs. Carrie Kriener Hornsey, aged forty-six years, died at Norton Infirmary Friday night following an operation which she underwent several days before.

The news came as a great shock to the family and friends of Mrs. Hornsey, who was considered by the surgeons and nurses to be out of danger. Her sister, Mrs. Robert Lusk, of this city, remained with her until last Wednesday, when she returned to her home entirely satisfied with Mrs. Hornsey's condition. A change developed after 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, but her death was entirely unexpected.

Mrs. Hornsey was the widow of Fred Hornsey, of Lexington, who died several years ago, and since his death Mrs. Hornsey has made her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Kriener, in this city. Besides them she is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Robert Lusk, of Paris; Mrs. Fred Dennis, of Junction City; Mrs. Oliver Elam, of Corbin, and Mrs. Jack Snowden, of California, and three brothers, Mr. Louis Kriener, of Junction City, and Messrs. John and George Kriener, of Paris. The body was brought to Paris Saturday, arriving at 6:45 p.m., and was taken to the home of her parents on Twelfth street.

The funeral services were held at the residence yesterday afternoon at three o'clock conducted by Rev. E. M. Lightfoot, assisted by Rev. W. E. Ellis. The remains were interred in the Paris cemetery.

The pall bearers were Dr. G. L. Rankin, Phil Nippert, Jr., Wm. Granan, B. A. Frank, J. W. Davis, Geo. Wilder.

ANDERSON.

Mrs. Ellen M. Anderson, aged 90 years, who died recently in New Orleans and was buried in that city, was a native of this county. She was a niece of the late Jefferson Davis and the last member of that branch of the family.

Mrs. Anderson was adopted and raised by Mr. Wm. Stamps, of this county, who, in the early days of Mississippi went to Natchez. Thence he went to Vicksburg, where he married Mrs. Lucinda F. Baseball Meeting Friday.

The future of the Paris Base Ball Club will be determined at a meeting called by President J. W. Bacon to be held at the court house Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All interested in base ball are requested to attend as most important subjects will be discussed.

At present there is a dire need of funds with which to start the season, and according to President Bacon they must be forthcoming if Paris would get in the running. The course is taken for the purpose of giving the players who are now under contract to get positions if it is decided not to have a team, and to make a disposition of the franchise.

In event the fans display the proper enthusiasm and an effort is made to put the team on its feet, President Bacon will ask that his successor be named to head the club this season. Business interests with which he is identified, requires all his time, and he cannot devote himself to the club this season.

The meeting Friday afternoon should be largely attended and local fans should display the proper interest, to start the team off right. Let every body who can do so attend. This is the final appeal and some understanding must be reached before the close of the meeting. If you want base ball attend the meeting and make your wants known.

Big List of Missing.

A visitor at the Chicago show took time to compare the list of 1913 exhibitors with one he had saved from the show of 1912. To his amazement there was no less than 32 manufacturers who have, during the past year, disappeared from the field, as exhibitors at least. Many of these manufacturers have been veterans in the field, as will be noted by the list, which includes the Anna, Alpina, Babcock, Brush, Corbin, Dalton, DeTamble, Dispatch, Elmore, Frontshac, Grant, Henry, Illinois, Jonz, Leader, Marquette, Parry, Otto, Penn, Petrel, Reading, Ritter, Rosler, Rogers, Sebring, Shelby, Stafford, Thomas, Stuyvesant, W. F. S., Suburban, Union, Virginia.

Perhaps the most unfortunate sufferers left in the wake of an abandoned automobile manufacturing business are the dealers who have given their time and money to the local exploitation of the project. At such a time it becomes necessary for the dealer to throw away months and years of effort and begin over again, hampered in his second start by the loss of prestige that his former business association brought about.

It pays a dealer to make a thorough investigation, allying himself with firms of unquestioned permanence, and maintaining such an alliance as the basic element of his business success.
